Natasha Mac a'Bháird Moving House

Meg and her mother have moved to a new house. Meg tells Hannah about packing their belongings and how she had to persuade her mother to let her bring her rollerblades. Her mother packed all her tennis gear and lots of pairs of shoes.

If you were moving house, what five things would you absolutely have to bring with you and why?

I would bring ...

My Favourite Things	Why I Would Bring Them

Extra activity

Working in Pairs: Turn to the person beside you. Imagine that you are going to be sharing a room on your holidays and you can only bring five items between you. Try to convince the other person why you should bring some of your items. Why are they important to you, or how could you use them together? Can the two of you find a good compromise you are both happy with?
